March 12, 2009 – For Immediate Release

“Network, schnetwork – I Need New & Simple Tricks!”

Sharonville, Ohio: "More business decisions occur over lunch and dinner than at any other time," says business guru Peter Drucker; "yet no MBA courses are given on the subject." Well we have a mini-MBA session planned!

Master HR professional Steve Browne has some new and simple tricks for more effective networking. He'll be explaining those to guests attending the Sharonville Chamber's March 24th Professional Development Series.

Now as Executive Director of LaRosa's, Steve draws from 20+ years experience in human resources, and undoubtedly tens-of-thousands of networking encounters. Steve is the crème-de-la-crème of networkers in this region!

“Networking is about building a relationship, not following a model,” says Steve. “Networking should have enduring results and not just a quick fix that people feel they achieve with a hand shake and a business card.”

“Steve always draws a crowd” says Chamber President Rich Arnold. “His insights, experience and quick wit never fail to instruct, inspire and cause a few laughs along the way. Steve is a remarkable professional and grade-A networker. If you know people... you can't miss this event!”

Register now – before the all the great networkers beat you to the punch.
